The Supreme Court of Ontario.

The Supreme Court of Ontario, which is a superior court of record, having civil and criminal jurisdiction, and which superseded the Supreme Court of Judicature for Ontario, was constituted by The Law Reform Act, 1909, 9 Edward VII, Chapter 28, of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, assented to 13th April, 1909, which came into force on the 1st January, 1913, by Proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor, dated 4th July, 1912, and The Judicature Act, 3-4 George V, Chapter 19, assented to 6th May, 1913, (Chapter 56, R.S.O., 1914), and consists of two branches or divisions, which are designated respectively, "The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario," and "The High Court Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario."

The Appellate Division consists of a Chief Justice, called the Chief Justice of Ontario, who is the President of the Division, and four other Judges, called Justices of Appeal, and of the other Judges of the High Court Division who for the time being constitute or are members of a Divisional Court.

The High Court Division consists of fourteen Judges.

It is provided that the Chancellor of Ontario, since deceased, the Chief Justice of the King's Bench, the Chief Justice of the Exchequer and the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, shall retain their rank and titles, and that the senior of them for the time being or the last of them who holds office, as the case may be, shall be the President of the High Court Division.

It is further provided that when a vacancy occurs in any of the offices above mentioned the office which becomes vacant shall be abolished, and that when all of the said offices have ceased to exist, the High Court Division shall consist of a Chief Justice, called the Chief Justice of the High Court, who shall be the President of the Division, and thirteen other judges.

Every Judge appointed to the Appellate Division or to the High Court Division is a Judge of the Supreme Court and is ex-officio, a Judge of the Division of which he is not a member, and, except where it is not otherwise expressly provided, all the Judges of the Supreme Court have in all respects equal jurisdiction, power and authority.

The Chief Justice of Ontario has rank and precedence over all the other Judges.
